Walkway Replanting

A gravel walkway lined with rocks and lush greenery, including a signpost on the left. The path is surrounded by dense foliage and trees, creating a shaded and natural environment. The sky is visible through the canopy in the distance.

When was it
first started?

A photograph of a stone retaining wall in a wooded area. The wall is built with stacked, rounded stones and topped with a wooden railing. A circular metal object, possibly a wire mesh or a decorative piece, is hanging from the railing on the left side. The ground in front of the wall is covered with gravel and fallen leaves. The background shows dense foliage and trees.

The First Bridge

What else is hanging on the railing?

A lush green forest scene with a wooden fence and a path leading through ferns and trees. The path is made of gravel and is bordered by a dark wooden fence. The background is filled with dense green foliage, including large ferns and trees. The sky is a clear blue.
